EXHIBITION OF
PAINTINGS AND PRINTS BY
CHICAGO ARTISTS
FEBRUARY 28 TO MARCH 30, 1933

WHITNEY MUSEUM OF AMERICAN ART
10 WEST 8TH STREET · NEW YORK CITY

ONE of the aims of the Whitney Museum of American Art has been and will continue to be the presentation of a general picture of art in America, in a series of exhibitions, regional and national in scope.

In presenting this exhibition of Paintings and Prints by Chicago Artists, we have endeavored to make a selection of works by a group of talented individuals who are especially associated with the contemporary art development of Chicago—a selection which would present a concise statement of the various trends of painting produced there.

Throughout all the apparent diversity of the work produced in this Midwestern environment we feel that an underlying consistency may be traced in the quite general robustness of approach and the refreshing unconventionality in the choice and treatment of subject material.

We wish to express our thanks to The Art Institute of Chicago for the loan of various pictures from its Collection, and to Mr. Robert B. Harshe, Director, and Mr. Daniel Catton Rich, Associate Curator of Paintings, for their valuable assistance in assembling the exhibition.
